

Lecture Review Questions

1. How do you represent an “A” in a computer?
Computers store characters as numbers using character encoding standards such as ASCII. For an uppercase "A": In Binary: 01000001, In Hexadecimal: 0x41
2. Name one other person in the class you have met
3. What is your biggest question about CSE29?